

into the flames

© Stephen Fisk SOCAN/2006

every word that leaves your mouth / everything you do its crystal clear to anyone / just what you're going through the seeds of faith that drive you on / wounds that touch your soul well its the same for anyone / who ever fought and lost control in that restless state / calling out her name you live in fear of heat / but you want to touch the flame I've seen it in the way you walk / the language that you move every face holds a mirror up / to the anarchy of raging mood and in that restless state / your calling out in vain 'cause you've got to feel the heat / if you're gonna touch the flame yeah, if you're gonna touch the flame are you willing to be humbled? / are you willing to get burned?
are you ready to engage yourself / in everything you learn?
are you willing to be sacrificed? / ready to be blamed? to lay down your complacency / and jump into the flames
every word that leaves your mouth / everything you do
its crystal clear to anyone / just what you're going through